

Service Action Proposal

A Place at the Table

What is A Place at the Table?

- Nonprofit, pay what you can restaurant
- Aims to reduce food insecurity in Raleigh, NC
- Runs off of a few paid staff, but mostly volunteers

Service Proposal

What: workshop on food insecurity and how to combat it

Who: guest speakers that work against food insecurity, aimed toward the Raleigh community

Where: at A Place at the Table

How: use resources with A Place at the Table to advertise, reach out to food insecurity connections, set up a workshop that educates on food insecurity and fighting it

Purpose and Intended Results

Purpose: for people to learn about and understand food insecurity, in order to fight it

Intended Results: the end goal for the workshop is that people will understand how food insecurity can impact others and how prevalent it is. Hopefully it will impart the knowledge that we need to treat people who are food insecure with empathy and kindness, instead of the common mistrust and blatant rudeness that they currently get

Relational Leadership Model: Ethics

The workshop will follow the ethics portion of the RLM by attempting to make life better for people dealing with food insecurity. It is driven by the innate value that everyone has regardless of whether or not they are food insecure.

Relational Leadership Model: Inclusion

One goal of the workshop is to recognize how food insecurity impacts marginalized people.

Relational Leadership Model: Empowerment

A goal of the workshop is that everyone will walk away with the knowledge of how they can fight food insecurity. This will hopefully empower them to be more active and have a want to fight insecurity.

Relational Leadership Model: Purposeful

The workshop keeps in mind that the end goal is to educate on food insecurity and dealing with it. It will also involve working with others in order to get different mindsets to weigh in.

Relational Leadership Model: Process

We will ask people who regularly work with food insecurity to come in and speak to the people who attend this workshop. Each speaker will give their opinions and ideas on what they have seen that effectively fights against food insecurity. The attendees will be listening and attentive, and active in participating.
